

Standout from other coaches in the field

The ILM Coaching & Mentoring Programme & Qualification 2017

Coaching & Mentoring is now one of the most recognised methods of developing staff, managers, leaders and executives. Whether you want to step into coaching or you already work as a coach or mentor, you may consider obtaining a nationally (and internationally) recognised Qualification. It's commonplace now for coaches to be asked to show evidence of their professional competence and qualifications are even specified in commercial tenders. A survey by the International Coaching Federation showed 84% of clients consider it important their coach is qualified.

So how to achieve these in reasonable timescales?

Our programme for coaching & mentoring provide a fast route to ILM qualifications at Level 5 and Level 7 and we are delighted to accept applications to join us for our 2017 courses.

Sessions take place at The Cotton Exchange, Bixteth Street, Liverpool on 3 x 2-day blocks (Fri/Sat)

Session 1 & 2	Preparing the Coach The Coaching & Mentoring Framework	24 th /25 th March
Session 3 & 4	The Coaching Toolkit Advanced Communications	21 st /22 nd April
